STATINTL

Mr. Cadell telephoned me this morning. In response to my inquiry on [REDACTED] he said that the investment firm in New York has not been able to come up with a job assignment which they feel will keep him busy - they are looking into it further however. I asked him if there is a cut-off date but he didn't really answer me specifically - he said they intend to prosecute this avenue until they reach a definite answer.

I asked about the overseas trip (they didn't decide on a spot last week evidently) and he said that the host company pays the transportation and the remaining expenses are paid out of the $1000 contribution made by the agencies.

Lets arrange a brief introductory meeting as you suggested. Maybe next week?
